

Saad Khan

Partner

Saad Khan is a Partner at CMEA Capital where he invests exclusively in bad-asses. That includes leading all seed and early stage investments in the people behind Zaarly, Blekko, Pixazza, Jobvite (and some awesome others you'll hear about). Prior to CMEA, he was a Venture Partner at Garage.com where he helped build Silicon Valley's first startup incubator. In addition to his day job, he co-founded the Film Angels (working with actors and producers like Carlos Santana and Barrie Osborne, producer of Lord of The Rings). He is also an Advisor to Lending Club (peer-to-peer lending platform), SamaSource (micro-work for the next billion), and the Thiel Fellowship's 20 under 20 program.

He has been a guest lecturer at the Stanford Design School and the UC Berkeley Business School. He is a frequent speaker at the US State Department and can be found supporting the cause of entrepreneurs from Startup Weekend in Egypt to "Silicon Valley Comes to Malaysia". He has been featured in Forbes (an advisor to Forbes 30 under 30), the Wall Street Journal, and the New York Times.

You can follow him @saadventures or on his blog SaadWired.